RCHS: 'hidden treasure?'

■ Two-person team from state department of education interviews staff & students, then makes recommendation for award

PRINCIPAL DONNA WHITE on her probably-soon-to-be award winning campus. Cheerleading tryouts provide the after-school backdrop.

By Steve Marschke

Many called, but few will be chosen.

One of those likely to be chosen will be River City High School, which has been recommended for a "Distinguished Schools" Award doled out in small numbers by the California Department of Education.

Over 1,500 hundred California high schools applied for distinguished school status, and only 80 (about one in 20) of those applicants will be selected for the honors. But two state representatives, after touring the local campus yesterday, will recommend that River City be among them.

"The award is based on curriculum, community participation, the total involvement of students, staff participation and involvement," said principal Donna White who, along with vice principal Ken Whittemore, joined the staff in the fall of 1994. "They asked us questions about how we assess curriculum, and they studied programs and co-curricular (extra-curricular) activities)."

White said that the campus drew high marks as well for the physical shape of the school. School and district administrators, including superintendent Dr. David Miller, have worked to spruce up the campus with paint and repairs.

White credits the school's staff with bringing about improvement from its often-maligned former status among the region's high schools.

"There's been steady improvement," she said. "The school is a hidden treasure. If we get this award, it's a recognition that it's a great staff and they're doing a great job."

Aside from the cosmetic improvements, the school has worked to reduce truancy and to improve the students' grade point averages (G.P.A.s). Both have happened, said White.

"Our G.P.A.s have gone up," she said, "from 2.40 to 2.46. That's a remarkable move, although it may not look like it."

A 2.46 average puts the students at about a "C+," edging towards a "B-," overall.

Senh Saelee, a school athlete and president of the its 1,150-strong student body, said he has seen some positive change in the campus during his four years at River City High School.

"It's improving every year," he commented. "We have a more positive student attitude. Ever since Dr. White and Mr. Whittemore came in, everything has been renovated, like the new black top, and they've cleaned up the whole campus."

A positive staff attitude has translated to a better one among the kids, he added.

"Students' attitudes have changed over the years, partly due to the administration and partly due to programs like the L.I.N.K. program, in which juniors and seniors volunteer to help freshman fit into the high school more," said Saelee.

Although the "Distinguished School" award has not been finalized, and principal White remains tense awaiting the final word, yesterday's recommendation by its visitors from the education department makes the award likely.

Local senior struck and killed in early morning accident

A 75-year old West Sacramento man was struck by a car and killed early Tuesday morning while crossing Jefferson Blvd. near F St.

The man's name has not been released.

Police said the man was taken to the UCD Medical Center, where he was pronounced dead following the accident. The victim, a West Capitol Ave. resident, was being treated for Alzheimer's disease.

"It was dark and he was crossing the railroad tracks east bound, and a car came from the direction of Michigan north bound," said Lt. Russ Thomas of the West Sacramento Police Dept. "The driver didn't see him and hit him."

There was no crosswalk at the location, added Thomas.

The driver, Corneliu Alexandru of Oroville, remained on the scene after the accident. Thomas said although the accident was still under investigation, it did not appear that Alexandru would face any charges in the man's death.

"We don't have any reason to believe it was anything other than a simple tragedy," said Thomas.

Yolo drug task force posts highest arrest tally in California

YONET, Yolo County's anti-narcotics task force, released its annual report last month -- and won bragging rights as the most active such inter-jurisdictional task force in the state.

YONET, which stands for Yolo Narcotic Enforcement Team, arrested 445 people in 1995 -- mostly for methamphetamine activity. The task force includes state participation as well as representation by the police departments of the county's cities, the UC Davis police, and Yolo County law enforcement professionals.

West Sacramento Police Chief Larry Gore is among the group's board of directors.

About a dozen officers and other personnel actively worked on YONET in 1995. In addition to the arrests, YONET served 140 search warrants, conducted 56 parole and probation searches and seized illegal weapons.

YONET's report noted that the use of heroin and "rock" or "crack" cocaine were highest in West Sacramento.

Undercover officers paid informants and conducted "buys" of the illegal drugs to pave the way for the arrests.

Sixteen picked up in sweep

West Sacramento police joined sheriff's deputies and officers from the other side of the river last week in anti-prostitution efforts.

The decoy operation resulted in the arrests Thursday evening of 16 suspected prostitutes and customers, said Lt. Russ Thomas of the West Sacramento Police Dept.

Thomas said the department's much-publicized decoy operation strategy appears to be bearing fruit.

"I hear comments like, 'you guys must be doing something good, I don't see as many hookers on the streets anymore,' " said Thomas.

As part of the joint task force's operations, judges on both sides of the river typically pose probation conditions that convicted prostitutes may not frequent sex trade strips such as West Capitol Ave. in West Sacramento or Auburn Blvd. in Sacramento, said Thomas.

"If we find them there, we can arrest them without any other charges," he said.

In addition, the task force tries to respond when local hookers change their habits -- such as trying to ply their trade on Merkley instead of West Capitol. When that happens, said Thomas, the decoy operation moves, too.

City finance department wins award from peers

The West Sacramento city manager's office has announced that the city's finance department has been honored with an "excellence in financial reporting" award by the Government Finance Officers Association, which formed in 1945 to help governments prepare annual financial reports in a readable manner.

"We are truly fortunate to have a financial team of such quality serving our community," city manager Joe Goeden was quoted in a press release.

The finance department is headed by director Leigh Keicher and finance manager Jon Moore, but includes a cast of "stars," said Goeden yesterday.

The award was given for the city financial reports presented to the city council last month.

Public invited to 'Old Tahoe'

From Louisa R. Vessell
West Sacramento Historical Society

The West Sacramento Historical Society will hold their next general meeting on Tuesday, April 16, at the Arthur F. Turner Library, 1212 Merkley Avenue, West Sacramento, from 6:30 to 8 p.m.

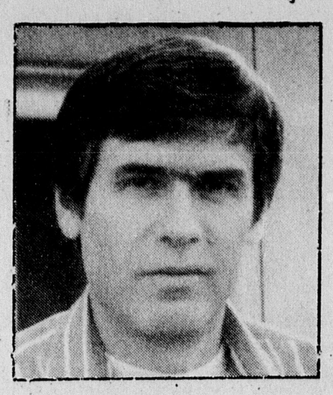

"Touring Lake Tahoe in 1915 and 1930," a video produced by the Lake Tahoe Historical Society, will be presented. This fascinating film takes the viewer on dirt roads to Lake Tahoe in the early days. Eventually, these dirt roads became our freeways as we know them today. Included in this rare footage of Lake Tahoe are scenes of Emerald Bay and the shoreline of the lake depicting an old lodge. Mickey Faucett, who purchased the video from the society, is providing this video for the evening.

The society's exhibition, "Today's City in Retrospect," will circulate the city for approxi-

Honey, I think it's time to 'downsize' the family

My Back Pages

By Daryl Fisher

I recently E-mailed the following inter-family memo to my wife's computer station at her place of employment, knowing that she tends to think a lot more clearly at work than she does at home, and that it might also be best if I wasn't nearby when she read it:

Dear Mary: As I'm sure you're aware, the cost of everything seems to be going sky-high! Our food bill has been going right through the roof, the car insurance premiums are up to about $400 a month, and we'll have two kids in college come next September. With those and all the many other expenses we've been incurring lately in mind, I think it's time that we seriously discussed downsizing the family.

First, the animals. As you know, for the past few days I've been taking that darn rabbit of Carrie's out of his cage and leaving him in the backyard for the night in the hope that one of those huge rats that are always running back and forth on the telephone wires might swoop down and eat him, but so far no luck. I suggest you give Carrie a call and inform her that if she doesn't come and get Boogie and house him in her own apartment, we're going to fry him up and have him for Easter dinner. Secondly, as much as I love Mikey, something just has to be done. We've spent hundreds of dollars on vet bills trying to get him to stop itching, and nothing has worked. Like most cocker spaniels, he has attached himself to one person -- me -- and everywhere I go, he and his fleas follow. I combed a couple of them out of my hair yesterday, and admit it, if that had been you, Mikey would have been history. I therefore suggest that we try to con John and Sally Lucas into taking him. They both have a soft spot for all creatures great and small. Plus they have a whole herd of dogs out where they live in Clarksburg, and what would a few more fleas matter to them?

Now, about your relatives. I know they only come down from Oregon a couple of times a year, but when they do, they come in waves, and it costs us a small fortune. Do you really think it's necessary to always serve them full course meals three times a day while they're here? And couldn't we just tactfully suggest that they visit only every other year? I mean, it's not like seeing me twice a year is going to make your mother like me any better anyway.

Finally, there's all these bloody kids of ours. Although I think we can both pat ourselves on the back for getting Carrie out of the house a few weeks before her 21st birthday, she still seems to be an expense which won't go away. She is still popping up for dinner and is always in need of some spending money and a handful of quarters to feed her meter down at work. And if she wrecks another car, we may all be at the mercy of the Cheaper Car Insurance Company.

And what about all these boys of ours? I mean, who has three sons these days? No one! I therefore suggest the following:

We keep Paul, because he looks and acts a lot like me, but we ask Greg and Kathe Potnick, who truly like Ty, to consider letting him live over at their house a couple of days a week. He listens to their advice more than he does ours and he's always over there anyway, so it would probably just be a matter of getting something in writing. I mean, who wouldn't want to spend part of each week hanging out at the mayor's house?

And I'm sure Bob and Linda Bianchi would gladly take Kyle off our hands on the weekends. I mean, they've more or less raised him anyway, and you know that Kyle much prefers to be next door at the Bianchi's playing with Anthony than he does staying at home where his big brothers pick on him constantly. Plus our assortment of video games can't even compare to theirs, so I'm sure if you ask Kyle, he'd take the Bianchi's over us any day.

The truth is, Mary, we've got some difficult decisions to make as we near the 21st century. Family management is a tough, bottom-line business these days. Just a few unexpected orthodontic costs and we could be in a big hurt. And what if the boys ever need new tennis shoes all at once? And God help us if they all start taking daily showers -- our PG&E bill will be down right scary! Anyway, please get back to me as soon as possible. We definitely need to talk about this. Daryl.

Dear Daryl: I have just finished reading your memo. Be advised that I have the perfect solution to downsizing our family by 1/6th. Details to follow when I get home. Mary.

NOTE: Since I'm pretty sure plagiarism is a crime in this state, I want to confess that I swiped the idea for this article from The New Yorker's wonderful columnist, Robert Sullivan. And not only did he downsize his family, but he also gave himself a big raise for doing such a good job of it.

Locals honored for health care

From Shoshana Zatz

William J. Spiller, Jr. and Juanita Spiller of West Sacramento have been chosen to be the recipients of the fourth annual Ada Merhoff Award. The award is being presented posthumously to Mr. Spiller. The Ada Merhoff award was created in 1993, and is jointly sponsored by the Yolo County Health Care Access Coalition, the Yolo County Health Council and the Yolo County Medical Society. It recognizes the efforts of local health care advocates and volunteers to increase access to health care for lower income Yolo County residents.

Bill and Juanita have been residents of West Sacramento for forty years. While raising six children, they had occasion to use both Salud Clinic and the Public Health Well Baby clinics. They considered their involvement in health care activities as "payback" for the excellent care they and their children received.

Bill and Juanita were first appointed to the Salud Clinic Advisory Board in March, 1982. Bill served as Chair for many years until his passing in 1994. "As Board members, Bill and Juanita were tireless champions for Salud and the disadvantaged people served by the Clinic," said Roger Clarkson of Salud Clinic. "During their years of service they were involved in many issues, including the first smoking ordinance for West Sacramento, the fight against adult book stores on West Capitol Avenue, and the new Salud facility."

In addition to his service on the Salud Clinic Advisory Board, Bill was a member of the Knights of Columbus for over 20 years, serving as Treasurer and Financial Secretary.

Juanita has been involved in community service for over 15 years. She worked on early drug preyention efforts in the West Sacramento area. She was a long-time member of the Community Action Board and has recently been appointed to the City of West Sacramento Commission on Aging. Juanita also serves as the Senior Peer Counselor for Yolo County Mental Health Services and continues as an active member of the Salud Clinic Advisory Board.

The first recipient of the award in 1993 was Ada Merhoff, long-time health care activist. Christine Blanchard received the award in 1994, and Dair Rausch was the recipient in 1995.

This year's award will be presented, along with the John H. Jones Public Service Award, at a reception on Thursday, May 9, 5:30 to 7 p.m. in the Atrium of the Erwin Meier County Administrative Building, 625 Court Street in Woodland.

A doctor who gives a 'little extra'

From Shoshana Zatz

Dr. Michael Gass has been chosen as the recipient of the seventh annual John H. Jones Public Service Award. Jointly sponsored by the Yolo County Health Care Access Coalition, the Yolo County Health Council and the Yolo County Medical Society, the award recognizes health care professionals who make an extra special contribution to lower-income Yolo County residents, and who are dedicated to achieving access to health care for all people.

Dr. Gass is the volunteer Medical Director for the General Medicine program at the CommuniCare Health Center in Davis (previously known as the Davis Community Clinic). He works at the Davis site every week to see patients in need of a dermatology consult as well as to review charts, give advice on policies, and consult with practitioners and lay staff. Twice a month, he also volunteers at the Peterson Clinic in Woodland where he provides dermatology services for Yolo County patients.

"Michael Gass has a are combination of true caring and respect for our clients, and excellent teaching and clinical skills that he shares with medical students, practitioners, health workers and other volunteers," said Donna Paul, of CommuniCare. "He is truly committed to providing quality health care to our uninsured, low-income clients, and he is always willing to give that 'little extra' in all that he does."

Dr. Gass received his M.D. from Washington University School of Medicine. He served as a medical officer in Ghana, and has held academic positions at Washington University School of Medicine, Washington Uni-

Girls' tennis team members Santizo, Phouanglasy set pace

From River City High School

After its eight-match win streak was snapped at Colfax two weeks ago, the River City High School Tennis Team was determined to start a new one. A pair of Golden Empire League matches against Golden Sierra and Lincoln resulted in 6-1 Raider victories and Spring Break brought a road trip to Dixon for a 4-3 nonleague win over the Rams.

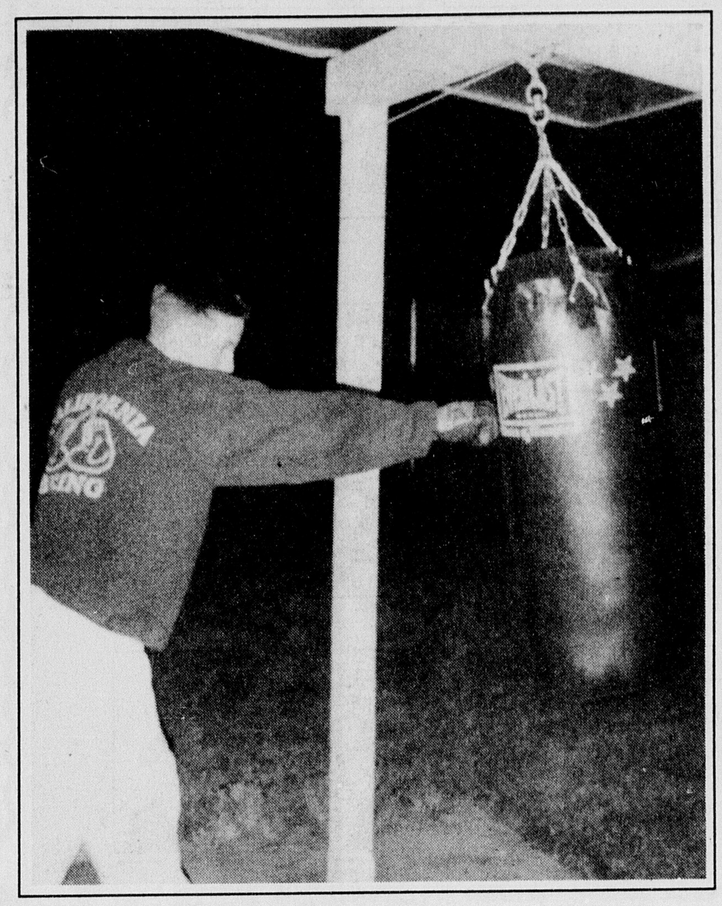

Highlights from the G.E.L. triumphs were the continued steller play of girls singles players #1 Mirthala Santizo and #2 Khonthavy Phouanglasy. Neither player gave up a single game against either the Grizzlies or the Zebras and Santizo tied the all-time school records for fewest points allowed in a girls set (0) and match (2) in her contest against Lincoln. It was Phouanglasy who had set the records earlier in the year at Galt. At #2 boys singles, Bounthay Bouttavong also won a pair of matches, 6-0, 6-1 versus Golden Sierra and 6-4, 6-2 against Lincoln while the girls doubles team of Bethany Monroe and Meuy Saechao continued their own winning streak with 6-0, 6-2 and 6-0, 6-0 victories.

In mixed doubles, Douangchanh Lattasima downed Golden Sierra 6-3, 6-2 with Ahmad Fazel as her partner and Lincoln 6-1, 6-2 paired with Jeff Wright. Rookie Phoungeun Souvannaphoungeun teamed with Wright for a boys doubles win against the Grizzlies and Fazel joined forces with Ty Fisher to defeat the Zebras. The team victories put the Raiders at 5 wins and 1 loss at the halfway point of G.E.L. play, just behind 5-0 Colfax and just ahead of 4-1 Bear River. The Falcons and the Bruins have yet to meet this season.

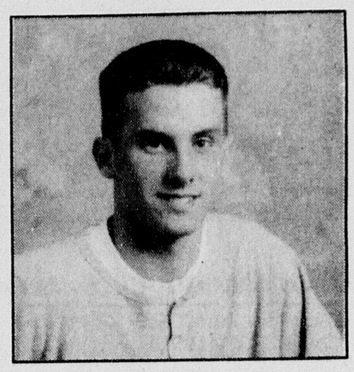

At Dixon, with Fazel out of town and Peter Santizo nursing an injured ankle, it was a makeshift Raider lineup that edged the Rams. R.C. suffered losses in three of the four singles matches but overall team depth paid off in sweeping the doubles. Playing her first-ever varsity singles match Lattasima won at #2, 6-3, 6-1. Wright played close in his singles debut but lost at #2 4-6, 4-6. In the #1 positions Fisher and Mirthala Santizo were also defeated in straight sets. It was a different story in doubles as Saechao and Monroe improved to 11-0 on the season in girls doubles, Bouttavong and Phouanglasy won 6-2, 6-4 in mixed, and the rookie duo of Souvannaphoungeun and Alex Klimushkin cruised 6-2, 6-0 in Klimushkin's first match at the varsity level.

The 4-3 win improved the Raiders overall record to 11-1. This week, in non-league matches, the Raiders travel to Vanden and return home for a Friday match against Bret Harte. Next week, the lone contest is a showdown with Bear River at home on Thursday.

West Sacramento native Thomas Clayton, now a freshman at UC Berkeley, will head to the collegiate boxing nationals this weekend.

Clayton, 19, boxes in the 125 pound division. He is the only member of his team to qualify for nationals, held this weekend in Reno. If he wins on April 12, Clayton's April 13 match will be televised on ESPN.

Aside from boxing, Clayton is working his way through college and is in the top five percent of the students academically. He graduated with honors from River City High School after attending Holy Cross School in West Sacramento for nine years.

Clayton's parents are Ruth and Dan Clayton.

The Sacramento Kings (34-40) are still alive for the eighth and final playoff spot in the Western Conference. The Kings mailed out to season ticket holders applications for playoff tickets. OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial

Another victim slips away

A man described as a "panhandler" who was sent to the hospital by an unknown assailant March 20 with little chance for recovery apparently will be missed.

The apartment manager who rented living space to victim Ulysses Adams said Adams was more than a begger. When he borrowed money from her occasionally, he always paid it back, she said. He always helped cook the holiday meals for the complex, she added, and (a short and light man) was a gentle person who could never have hurt anyone.

Police are still hoping for clues to who struck Adams after Adams approached the suspect in the Riverbend shopping center parking lot.

It has been speculated that Adams' life -- and the mystery of his assault -- may be worth less to us than if he were a higher standing member of society.

Homeless

At West Sacramento's April 3 City Council meeting, we were told that Yolo County's homeless was known to be at least 89. Of that 89, West Sacramento had 49 percent, Woodland had 39 percent, Davis had 10 percent, and 2 percent located elsewhere in our county.

What makes these figures interesting is that Davis (w/ 55,000 or so population) has no county social services dept. offices, while West Sacramento (30,000 est. pop.) and Woodland (w/48,000 residents) do have such offices...obviously, Davis refers needy clientele to Woodland and West Sacramento, but just what that breakdown and the criteria for same is unknown to this writer at this time.

While the question of where to locate low-income housing for the homeless (including those just being released after serving time for wrongdoings) is one of the "hottest" local political issues, it cannot simply be ignored or given the NIMBY (not in my back yard) rejected. And to release so many "just back into society with maybe $100 or so" and expect those just released to succeed (stay out of trouble) seems too naive for too many.

Too much idle time with too little financing (for living needs) is dangerous enough. But when such people cannot obtain even part-time jobs with some training for future (better) successful jobs, half-way type housing would seem to be a critical ingredient to their success as low-abiding citizens. And being able to get to and from (even part-time) jobs, training and other "positive-type" time spent translates into less idle time leading to trouble (costing taxpayers less and making locales safer).

Approved at the April 3 meeting was acceptance of the final inspection of the new traffic signals at 500 Jefferson Blvd. at "F" Street, where local Social Services were recently relocated. Completion of this vital safety factor will allow YoloBus to move ahead with their reroutings of YoloBus Routes #40 and #41, so that 500 Jefferson Blvd. will have hourly service -- in both directions. Hopefully, our local Social Security office will relocate from Halyard Drive during the next year before that lease runs out and all of our social services offices will be physically close to each other. These will be big "pluses" in addressing social problems.

But exactly where to locate and how to finance housing for those potential "problem members of our community" continue to remain major challenges for us...mere rejection won't solve problems. With less Federal money being traded for more local flexibility (aka: Block Grants), we need more local input and local government offices more willing to listen.

Challenges to succeed must be made to be more realistic if we are to make our communities safer.

High school proficiency exams: Sac, Woodland

Those wishing to complete high school and move on to college or a career may earn the equivalent of a high school diploma by proving proficiency in basic skills through the California High School Proficiency Examination (CHSPE). Proficiency is defined as the average performance of a second-semester senior in a California public high school.

Timely registration is a necessary first step in taking the CHSPE. Registration forms, included in the Information Bulletin, must be received by the contractor no later than the registration deadline of May 1, 1996. The registration fee is $47. The three-hour test will be held on May 11, at 65 sites throughout the state. In Sacramento, the test will be administered at the Sacramento County Office of Education, American River College, and Sacramento City College. In Yolo County, the test will be administered in Woodland, at the Yolo County Office of Education. This will be the second of three exams given in 1996.

The exam is open to anyone 16 or older, whether enrolled in school or not. Those under 16 may take the CHSPE if they have completed the tenth grade or are enrolled in the second semester of tenth grade. Many students who pass the CHSPE continue to attend school. In any event, anyone under 18 who passes the exam must have parental permission in order to leave school before regular graduation.

A Certificate of Proficiency is awarded by the State Board of Education to those who pass the CHSPE. This certificate is equivalent by law to a high school diploma and will be accepted as such for any purposes requiring a high school diploma. However, the Student Aid Commission does not accept the Certificate of Proficiency for the purpose of obtaining a California Grant, as students leaving school early do not always establish a complete grade point average. The U.S. Civil Service Commission has ruled that the Certificate of Proficiency shall also be accepted in applications for federal civilian employment. Military policies vary; any questions in this regard should be directed to your local recruiter.

Copies of the Information Bulletin with sample questions, list of test sites, registration form, and mailing envelope are available at public and private high schools and at all public libraries. For more information, please contact the California Department of Education's Research, Evaluation, and Technology Division at 657-2277.

Learn to jump-start a human: attend CPR festival on April 21

Did you know three out of four people can jump start a car, but only one in ten can do CPR? The American Red Cross Sacramento Sierra Chapter is offering people the opportunity to learn cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) at CPR EXPO. The event will be held at Cal Expo on Sunday, April 21.

CPR EXPO will focus on training members of the community in CPR, as well as how to recognize the signs and symptoms of a heart attack and effectively accessing the emergency response system (911).

CPR training classes will be held in Cal Expo's Exposition Center throughout the day. Classes begin every hour from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Participants may progress at their own pace, however class generally takes about three hours. Classes offered exclusively in Spanish will be held at 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.

People may call 368-3396 to register. Pre-registration to CPR EXPO is only $10, which includes parking at Cal Expo. (A Red Cross CPR class usually costs $25.) On April 21, admission at the door is also $10, with $4 additional for parking.

"Our goal is to educate and train thousands of individuals in Sacramento and surrounding communities about the importance of CPR and responding to an emergency," says Chapter Executive Officer Jim McColm.

CPR EXPO is sponsored in part by KFBK AM 1530, COOL 101.1 FM and Cal Expo.

Project V.I.T.A.L.

The City of West Sacramento Parks and Community Services Department and the SPARK program have assembled an hour and 15 minute collection of community-based programming written, produced, performed and directed entirely by a group of young adults with special needs. Produced in co-sponsorship with Little City Television and Davis Community Television, the group of young adults received training in all areas of video production from floor managing to the audio boards. Each participant was responsible for running cameras, using microphones, and creating storyboards as well as being the talent for specific elements of the production. The end result of many hours of training and filming is "Special News and Review." For additional information regarding this program, please contact Julie Leber at 373-5860.

The Lodi 36th Art Annual, judged by Jim Estey and Jerry Riley, has also accepted paintings by Sokolich, as well as by Joan Estelle Leed. That show runs from April 12 to 14.

Bat Talk

Despite the crucial role they play in our ecosystem as pollinators and in insect control, bats are often the victims of myth, superstition and misinformation. The Friends of the Davis Arboretum invite community members to learn about these fascinating animals at a talk by Christine Scott of the California Bat Conservation Fund. Her slide show and the "beautiful and charming" live, tame bats accompanying her are part of the Wildlife in Your Backyard series, in honor of the Arboretum's 60th anniversary. The talk will take place at the Putah Creek Lodge on the U.C. Davis campus at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, April 17. There is no charge for the talk; night parking on the campus costs $1. For more information, please call Diane Cary at 752-4880.

Flowers of Spring

On Saturday, April 20, from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., experience the diversity of seasonal wetlands and wildflowers on the Stone Lakes National Wildlife Refuge. Meet promptly at 10 a.m. at the Elk Grove Boulevard entrance to the refuge to begin this combination driving and hiking tour. Take the Elk Grove Blvd. exit off of Interstate 5 and turn west toward the refuge. For the comfort of participants we suggest that you dress accordingly for the weather and bring drinking water if desired. For more information, please call the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service at 979-2085. Reservations are required.
